

Abstract

Title:

Evaluation of competitive balance in top European football leagues

Objectives

The quality of objective of this bachelor thesis is the analysis of competitive balance of four European football leagues. Namely the Czech league, the Danish league, the Sweden league and the Norwegian league, their comparison and subsequent comparison with other European leagues.

Methods:

Static competitive balance calculated using the standard deviation of percentage wins.

Results:

The results show comparison of competitive balance in top European leagues and their development trends. As well as combine examined competitions into groups by similar development trends.

Key words:

Football, competition, static balance, standard deviation